Foreword

Through the medium of well-known magazines, modernism is employed in fashioning this thirteenth edition of the Colt Corral. As a continuity device, various magazine covers are used to separate the book into divisions.

The staff seeks to tell the story of this eventful year at Arlington High School--the work and play, the highlights and sidelights, and the thoughts and memories.

May it meet with your approval, and may it be a lasting reminder of your school days.

ARLINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

Arlington High School

Once again the end of the school year is here. The prospect of summer vacation sends happy echoes through the resounding halls of Arlington High School. Some will walk through these doors for the last time, never to return again. Some will be happy, some will be sad; others will be bewildered by the future ahead, but most will be prepared to face that future squarely and honestly, knowing full well they are ready.

If these bricks, concrete blocks, and solid walls could speak, what secret would they reveal? Are they merely masses of rock and mortar, used only for a functional purpose? No, these and other buildings like them are living symbols of man's thirst and quest for truth and knowledge.

As you go out the doors, down the steps, and on the sidewalks and parking lot, look back and up at the silent majesty of this two-year-old building. Give it a smile and a "Thank You" before you go on your way.

Dedication

For his understanding and promotion of our interests and activities,

For his kindly humor that makes us at ease in any situation,

For the time and talent so unselfishly devoted to the students of Arlington High School,

For the high ideals by which he lives,

For the honor and recognition he has brought our school,

For the music he has instilled in our hearts and minds,

For the alma-mater and fight song we love so well,

We dedicate this 1957-58 issue of the Colt Corral to

MR. DEAN COREY

Faculty

The subjects taught at AHS are many and varied. Each of these subjects requires a different type of teacher.

All teachers have one common interest--us. It is we, as students, who benefit from their help in sponsoring our clubs, conducting our activities, and guiding our lives.

We are fortunate to have an understanding principal, a vice-principal that is never too busy for our problems, counselors to help us in any way possible, and an administration that keeps Arlington schools abreast of the times.

Personalities

Glamour is an outstanding quality that is difficult to define. Who has it? Why? It will have a different meaning for some than it will for others.

The students featured in this section of the Colt Corral have made themselves known and are liked by many of the fellow students.

Most of them are friendly. . .most of them are active in more than one phase of high school life. All of them are outstanding personalities.

Arlington's Homecoming game November 9 was quite a success with the Colts winning 20-13. Jerry Bane picked this game to give his best performance of the season in the Arlington backfield. He accounted for two touchdowns and most of the Colt rushing yardage. It wasn't a night for offensive heroics, however, and the Colt line, led by Ronnie Duhon, Bob and Mickey McLellan, Johnny Clark and Thomas Martin, contained the Bearcats very successfully.

Look through this pictorial record of the students, your buddies and friends. You will undoubtedly use this section as a reference for refreshing your mind in years to come.

Organizations

The Student Life is one of the most important phases of our high school life outside of learning. Through it you obtain friends, leaders, and a lot of fun.

Clubs, musical groups, publications, and many other organizations provide the backing of our social activities.

It takes these students and sponsors to produce a good school like Arlington High. Participation in these groups makes one's years at high school more enjoyable.
